

Government officials met to discuss economic reforms.

Parliament will vote next week.

The minister presented a new policy plan.

Debates continued late into the evening.

Political analysts expect strong reactions.